

The relief my family has been able to enjoy since being listed on the Do Not Call list is a FREEDOM we not only enjoy but one that should not be taken away from us. I already pay for an unpublished phone number, but before the Do Not Call list happened the telemarketers still were able to invade the privacy and peace of my home life with unwanted and unwelcome calls.

The people of this state and our wonderful nation should be able to enjoy the peace of their own home without it being sacrificed for the big businesses of telemarketing. If they are so sure their product is good and will sell, let them use standard marketing practices to advertise and send mailings if desired. We the citizens have been asked to give up so very many freedoms in the past few years, for very justifiable reasons. Please let us keep the peace and comfort of our homes without being violated by telemarketers.

God Bless America.

Sincerely,
P. Skillen
